Introduction

- Taxes are one of the financial tools of countries and one of the most important sources of national income for most countries of the world.
- Taxes are considered one of the factors that have a significant impact, whether positive or negative, on investment in countries.
- With the tremendous development that has taken place in the possibility of investment crossing regional borders and the existence of easy and accessible ways for global and transcontinental investment, taxes have become of greater importance than before, both locally and internationally.
- In conjunction with this development, it was necessary for investors and companies to adapt to this development and deal with taxes in a more interactive manner, as taxes became one of the factors affecting investment decisions.

Introduction

- Global and local professional offices have realized the importance of having a department within them to follow up on tax developments, deal with them and provide tax services.
- The matter became more developed and specialization became the title of professionalism, and then establishments specialized in providing tax services of all kinds arose.
- According to what the Tax Authority is doing in preparing electronic systems, we have developed our office to comply with this development, which stems from the personality of our office in terms of content and name as well as SAT Experts which is an abbreviation of: Smart Accounting and Taxation

There Are Two Types of The Professional Offices

Types of Professional offices

First Type

Professional offices have a department for tax

Second Type

Professional offices specialist in Tax and have other departments.

The First type :

Professional offices that perform professional services in the field of accounting and auditing, and they have other departments such as accounting entry and evaluation, and one of these departments is a department to follow up on tax affairs.

The second type:

Professional offices that provide professional services in the field of providing advice and tax services, and they have departments To follow up the affairs of accounting and auditing. The difference is that the second type depends mainly on tax services as a major element in the entity of these offices and depends on people who have previous experiences either in professional offices or people who were working in leadership positions Previously in the Tax Authority and they have scientific and practical experience in providing services and advice tax.

And our office is one of these offices.
